AMERICANS ARE RAKED TO COLONIZE IN MEXICO

Zangwill Scores Us as Slackers
Nogales Chamber Informed of Opportunity to Get Citizens

Prohibition and Klan Held Indulgent of People's Sense of Humor

BY TIMOTHY G. TURNER
Nogales, Nov. 7.—(Times Staff Correspondent) Extensive colonization of the Mexican West Coast by Italians is likely, according to an announcement made here tonight by Lewis J. Spence of New York, director of traffic and member of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific lines. It is learned that when Spence was in Italy last summer he motored through the rural districts and was struck by the similarity of climate, soil and general environment between Italy and the Mexican West Coast.

He later conferred with Mussolini about the matter of immigration to Mexico. The Premier was pleased with the idea since he desires to care for the excess population, but Spence says Mussolini wants guarantees of happiness for the Italians and security for their farms if they come to Mexico. Spence also announced that a commission of the Italian government already had been quietly investigating conditions on the West Coast and if their report is favorable the Italian government probably will sanction the scheme. The announcement was made at a dinner given by the Chamber of Commerce of Nogales, Sonora, to Spence upon his return from a week's inspection of the Southern Pacific of Mexico, accompanied by H. R. Tilton, president of that railroad.

ITALIANS WELCOME
Spence told Mexican business men and officials "colonization can be safely undertaken, successfully accomplished only by inspiring confidence in peace and stability of the country and guarantee of unimpeded possession of land. He said, "The Italian government is largely one of immigration to work hundreds of thousands of acres of rich land yet uncultivated. Spence explained that $50,000,000 of money had been set aside for the purpose of a railroad from which income has not yet been realized.

NEED PROTECTION
The company is now investing $14,000,000 more in extending the line to Guadalupe. Improving existing lines, he said. Spence pointed out that capital was needed for the project.

QUAKE AGAIN JARS CITIES IN IMPERIAL

Slight Damage Reported; Shock is More Severe at Calexico and Mexicali

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
EL CENTRO, Nov. 7.—Imperial Valley was visited by another temblor at 4 o'clock this afternoon. It was followed by a slight quake a few minutes later. No one was injured and no damage was reported further than the discovery of a few small cracks in buildings at Calexico and Mexicali, where it was said the shock was more severe than further north in the valley. The shock today was asserted to be heavier than that of last Monday.

The temblor sent people scurrying into the streets and business was interrupted for a time. The incident was virtually forgotten an hour later.

At Calexico cracks were observed following the shock in the engine building, which also houses the police station and City Jail. Fire was discovered in a room in the engine building, but it was asserted to be a break in an electric wire as a result of the shock.

An old crack in the Virginia Hotel, said to have been caused by a temblor several years ago, opened to a width of half an inch. Several bottles and glassware in drug stores were shaken to the floor.

El Centro, Calipatria, Brawley, Holtville and Imperial officials told the shock in those places had been done in these places.

Dr. Sawyer Testifies Before Senate Veterans' Committee

Declares Director Guilty of Insubordination in Sale of Property

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Harding forced the resignation of Charles R. Forbes as director of the Veterans' Bureau for insubordination in connection with the sale of government property at Perryville, Md., the Senate Veterans' Committee was told today by Brig.-Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, personal friend and physician of the late President.

Dr. Sawyer explained that after that Mr. Harding had ordered the movement of goods from Perryville to stop, a number of cars had been permitted to go forward to the warehouse, the Thompson Kelly Company, Inc., of Boston. When this came to the attention of the President, who previously had told Dr. Sawyer the sale was "a waste and should not be tolerated," Forbes was asked to resign.

Within a few days after the sale was stopped, Forbes sailed for Europe. His friends said at the time that his health had failed, but reports persisted that his resignation then was in the hands of President Harding.

ONLY ONE OF DEVELOPMENTS
The clearing up of the mystery of the resignation of Forbes was only one of the developments today before the investigating committee. Charges presented included:

That the list of supplies to be sold at Perryville was after it had been cleared through the Budget Bureau as containing no items needed by other government agencies.

That there were indications of "grafting" if not actual "grafting" in the awarding of a contract for approximately $400,000 worth of supplies to the Continental Chemical Corporation of Watake, Ill.

That some officers of the bureau believed the late Charles F. Cramer, formerly general counsel of the bureau, had used contracts awarded to him by the bureau to obtain indorsements to his name for Assistant Secretary of War.

That certain employees of the bureau had used every means to hinder the work of the special investigators named by the Senate committee to inquire into all the affairs of the bureau.

FORBES TO APPEAR
With the closing of the session today, the hearings went over until Monday. Forbes has been invited to appear before the committee at that time or on Tuesday if he desires, but the time of his appearance will depend upon his physical condition. The former director was reported to have suffered another heart attack last night and he was absent from the hearings for the first time in two weeks.

ELIAS H. Mortimer of Philadelphia, whose story of alleged hoaxes of large sums to Forbes and his associates during a trip to the Pacific Coast has been one of the sensations of the hearing, may be recalled for cross-examination by counsel for Forbes. Mortimer represented a contracting firm which was seeking hospital contracts from the bureau.

Bay City Sugar King's Niece Is Given Divorce

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
PARIS, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Spencer Eddy obtained a divorce in the Paris courts today from Spencer Eddy, an American diplomat whose home is in Chicago. Mrs. Eddy formerly was Miss Lurline Spreckels, the daughter of Claude Spreckels, nephew of Adolph Spreckels, the San Francisco sugar king.

The decree was granted on grounds of desertion, the wife charging that her husband created violent scenes, abandoned her and refused to return. The couple were married on April 24, 1906. Mrs. Eddy is now in New York.

WIDOW BLED SCHWAB

Steel King Tells of "Loans"

Continued Advancing Her Funds Rather Than Have Publicity

Woman Now Indicted for Forging His Name to Finance Hotel

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—For twenty years the popular steel magnate, Charles M. Schwab, permitted himself to be bled for "loans" by Mrs. Myrtle B. Hayes, the demure widow who is now under indictment for forging his indorsement to notes with which she attempted to finance a $5,000,000 apartment hotel project in Brooklyn, Mass.

He did this because back in 1903 he had advanced the woman $2000 and he feared that if he should stop there would be some publicity regarding his past loans to her, which would result in an erroneous construction being placed upon his previous associations with her.

SCHWAB TELLS STORY
All of this Mr. Schwab himself testified to this afternoon at a hearing before Charles A. Tipling, referee in bankruptcy at No. 1 Bridge Plaza Court, Long Island City. He was questioned for an hour and a half by George Edwin Joseph of 35 Broadway, attorney for certain creditors of William C. Tobey, builder, who failed because of his reliance on the notes Mrs. Hayes negotiated.

The whole purpose of Mr. Joseph's questioning was to prove that Mr. Schwab himself is obligated to honor the note indorsements which he asserts are forgeries. The whole purpose of Mr. Schwab's answers were to demonstrate that he never had any interest in Mrs. Hayes's business dealings and that she was never authorized at any time to use his name to obtain money or credit.

DENIES ATTEMPT TO AID HER
At one point Mr. Joseph tried to bring out an admission by Mr. Schwab that after testifying against Mrs. Hayes before the grand jury last May he endeavored to aid the defense. Mr. Schwab denied this. The questions follow: "Did you authorize your personal counsel, Mr. Willard A. Mitchell, to suggest that George Gordon Battle act as counsel for Mrs. Hayes in the forgery case?"

"Certainly not."

"Did you give Mrs. Hayes any money after her indictment?"

"Did you advance her $1000 so that she might go out of the State for a rest?"

"Did you draw your check for $1000 to the order of Mr. Tobey following the indictment of Mrs. Hayes?"

"I think I did. I would have to look at my records in order to be sure."

"Wasn't that so that Mr. Tobey could give the money to Mrs. Schwab?"

"I think not. Probably Mr. Tobey can tell you. Suppose you ask him." I shall ask Mr. Tobey later.

"I want to assure you that whatever I did was with no ulterior purpose."

"Were you ever in a business enterprise in which Mrs. Hayes was interested in the matter of construction?"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—An announcement is made today at the House of the Temple, the headquarters of the Supreme Council, Scottish Rite, Southern Jurisdiction, that E. H. Blight, formerly of Los Angeles, had been appointed editor of the new Age and all Scottish Rite publications.

The new Age is the official organ of the Supreme Council and has a circulation of over 250,000, thus giving this magazine the largest circulation of any Masonic monthly in the world.

The other publications of the Supreme Council include the bulletin of the Scottish Rite news bureau, sent to 4000 editors weekly, and the Scottish Rite clip service, sent semi-monthly to 30,000 ministers and educators. Both these services deal with Masonic news and information concerning the educational program of the Supreme Council.

Blight was a resident of Los Angeles for some time, serving as a member of the City Board of Education for four years, and as vice-president of the California State Board of Accountancy for eight years. He was also editor of the Masonic Digest.

At the recent session of the Supreme Council the honor of the Thirty-third Degree Inspector-General Honorary was conferred upon him as a recognition of his Masonic service.

Ferry W. Weidner, also of Los Angeles, who recently resigned as Secretary-General of the Supreme Council will conclude his service here within a few days, and with Mrs. Weidner expects to reach Los Angeles soon after December 1.

Progress in Plans Told in Speeches in Meeting Held at Van Nuys

Progress in the plans for the proposed Victory Highway, a sixteen-mile stretch of road to give residents of the San Fernando Valley a third and shorter outlet to Los Angeles, was reported in addresses at a mass meeting in Van Nuys last night. More than 400 persons heard talks by Mayor Croy of Los Angeles, Mayor Campbell of Burbank, George Hume of Van Nuys, Hugh Pomroy, secretary of the Regional Planning Commission, G. Gordon Whitnall, secretary of the City Planning Commission, and James F. Collins, of Long Beach, state commander of the American Legion.

The proposed highway, it was brought out in talks, will be a memorial to those who served in the World War and will greatly relieve congestion along thoroughfares serving the communities of Van Nuys, Owensmouth, Lancaster, Burbank and Reseda. It is planned to have the road 100 feet in width. Work on the road will be carried out by each community by petition and the cost of each section assessed against each locality it was stated.

OMAHA (Nov. 7).—Half of the banks in Nebraska that are not members of the Federal reserve bank system fail to join because of resentment, and the other half do not join because of the method used by the Federal reserve bank system, Fred W. Thomas, vice-president of the First National Bank of Omaha, testified today before the joint Congressional committee which is investigating the failure of nonmember eligible State banks to join. The committee left tonight for Kansas City, where it will continue to hold a hearing tomorrow.

Mr. Thomas said he had no amendments to suggest to the Federal Reserve Act. The reserve city banker, he believed, performed the duty of country bankers needs satisfactorily. As a stockholder of a small country bank also, he asserted this type of institution might not gain by joining the system. He declared that country bankers fear concentration of credit, and oppose anything that will tend to have this dictated from a central office.

Those complaining, Mr. Thomas declared, "had been deprived of a revenue that was always theirs. Half of their objections are through resentment and the other half because of methods used."

Efforts of Congressmen Stogdill, Democrat, Alabama, to disclose what part the Federal reserve banks took in the deflation that began in the West in 1920 were without avail.

Lloyd Earhart, manager of the local branch of the Federal reserve bank, asserted that the bank took no unusual actions toward calling loans at that time, but merely advised those institutions which had borrowed too much during the inflation period by letter to reduce their loans, keeping unmaturing paper on hand until this was done.

Former State Highway Commissioner Resigns From Church With Attack on Policy of Clergy

DETROIT (Mich.) Nov. 7.—Horatio "Good Roads" Earle, former State Highway Commissioner, has resigned from the Cass-avenue Methodist Episcopal Church because he believes churches generally have abandoned the gospel for politics.

"There is too much P. T. Barnum stuff" in the church today, Mr. Earle said in amplifying his letter of resignation to his pastor, Dr. Robert L. Tucker.

In my opinion we need a great country-wide revival with the pastors of all Christian churches in the pews and the lay members who believe the doctrine of Jesus Christ in the pulpit, preaching repentance, forgiveness, and driving the people away with politics and propaganda of the Anti-Saloon League or any other organization would be a disgrace to the new gospel as did the business man—Earle.

Further, a minister in Detroit said: "Any man who will drink intoxicating liquors is a traitor like Benedict Arnold. If all such traitors in this country were to be in, and among them would be enough ministers to take charge of the Sunday services."

GERMANS AWAIT REVOLT

Today Set as Date for National Pulsch to Overthrow Republic by Monarchists

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—Thursday is the fifth anniversary of the foundation of the German republic. And tomorrow or Friday, according to reports here is the day set for the nationalist pulsch, the object of which is to crush the republic and set up a monarchy.

Both sides are preparing for the struggle. Chancellor Stresemann's call for 250,000 volunteers in Berlin has already been met, and 12,000 more are ready to volunteer in a moment's notice. The men are reported to be of good military quality, and reliable Republicans. Their duty will be to police Berlin and thus free the state police to assist the Reichswehr.

A similar enrollment of volunteers to such an extent as may be needed is expected in other threatened cities of Prussia. The volunteers are officially called "pulsch" as out of this enterprise. With the impulsiveness that has got into many a German, it is not surprising that many have been able to obtain about $300,000 for the project on the alleged forged notes, he said: "I can't understand it. These houses advanced this money without attempting to contact with me to find out if the indorsements were genuine, and without obtaining any collateral."

"Now you are not serious," protested Mr. Joseph, "I am not. I have thousands of thousands of dollars without collateral," insisted Mr. Schwab.

"If I am to get into trouble over matters of this kind it seems to me that I am in a very bad position," Mr. Joseph remarked, "Perhaps you look at it differently from others because you are such a shrewd business man."

Quite a different picture was presented by Mr. Schwab, "I'm a very careless business man," he said.

Mr. Joseph observed that he had been in a court proceeding but before in his life. Reference was made to the fact that he was remarkably fortunate.

"I would not loan me money," he said, "that nearly all my misfortunes in life have come from acts of kindness."

Mr. Joseph tried to ascertain if Mr. Schwab's counsel, Mr. Mitchell, had authority to act for him in business matters. Mr. Schwab said Mr. Mitchell had very broad powers, but he said, "I leave any estate when I die, he will rather elude to it."

When the hearing adjourned with no date fixed for resumption of the case, Mr. Joseph said he would appear again if desired.

LONGER DAY AHEAD
(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS)

ESSEN, Nov. 7.—Negotiations were begun today between representatives of the Ruhr industrialists and all the workers' unions to determine whether the workmen will make sacrifices which the employers consider necessary, to enable them to accede to the terms of the French authorities for the resumption of economic life, and consequently repatriation deliveries.

On the outcome of these negotiations, which will continue tomorrow depends to a large extent whether the industrial leaders will sign agreements and whether employment in the Ruhr already reaching alarming proportions, will increase or diminish.

It is considered more than likely that the industrialists will reach an agreement with the French if they can induce the workmen to accept a ten-hour day, instead of an eight-hour day, for factories and above ground work, and an eight-and-a-half-hour day for underground work instead of seven.

If the workers refuse the industrialists will probably carry out their threat and close down, throwing all their unemployed into the mercy of unemployment doles.

Soup kitchens have been opened in most of the Ruhr towns, and the unemployed are seen, handing in their pitances of three billion marks for a quart of soup mixture composed mostly of beet potatoes and a tiny morsel of bacon.

The unemployment list at Gelsenkirchen numbers about 40,000; Essen, 50,000; Dortmund, 60,000; 70,000; Duisburg, about 100,000; Mülheim, 50,000; Hamburg, 30,000; 40,000. If all the industrial plants close as threatened, the unemployed in the Ruhr area will reach from 700,000 to 800,000. The Bochum Verein has already turned out 20,000 men and has threatened to drop 40,000 Saturday.

Proof of the United States determination to aid in Europe's problems and the anxiety of Washington is seen in the action of the administration in seeking to arrange the combination of the international body to examine the factors influencing the situation abroad.

It is recalled that when Lord Curzon first proposed to Mr. Hughes that America participate in an experts committee or an international body to study German reparations problems, the secretary of State replied that it would only take part if the other interested nations agreed to do so.

It is pointed out that the two principal inviting powers, France and Great Britain, were in complete disagreement and after days of negotiating are still wide apart. son, charges and specifications against Lieutenant-Commander Donald T. Hunter, commanding officer of the U.S.S. Delphy, flagship of the squadron, were taken up by the court. The charges and specifications are the same as those against Capt. Watson. Testimony in the case will be generally similar.

Prompt objections to a trial by the present court were forthcoming from Lieutenant-Commander Hunter's counsel. It was "claimed that inasmuch as Capt. Watson had not been exonerated on the evidence presented in his trial that the court would be prejudiced by the evidence and testimony are similar."

Naval regulations, it is said, provide that in cases such as this an appeal for a new trial must be automatically upheld. But the present court differed with that ruling. They overruled the objection, polled the court as to the possibility of prejudice and continued the examination.

RECORD PRESENTED.
Capt. Watson was the only important witness to be heard today. He appeared solely to present his naval record—a praiseworthy list of achievements—to the court.

Plea for a verdict of guilty from Judge-Advocate Leslie E. Bratton and exonerated from the part of the Captain and the Captain's counsel closed the session.

Briefly, the prosecution held that the wreck was the result of avoidable negligence and miscalculation on the part of the Captain and his subordinates. The defense claimed that it was a combination of Providence, abnormal luck, and contradictory radio bearings, a freak sea current which sent the ship on the rocks.

Neither the court, the Judge-Advocate nor Capt. Watson would make a statement today. Hunter will be continued tomorrow.

NEW BODY SEEN
Most competent observers in Paris agree that the proposed experts committee is abortive and eventually will be abandoned, but it is believed that negotiations are now under way for the creation of another organization of a different character to which the United States will finally adhere when he realizes that Washington is not going to stand by.

It is considered more than likely that the industrialists will reach an agreement with the French if they can induce the workmen to accept a ten-hour day, instead of an eight-hour day, for factories and above ground work, and an eight-and-a-half-hour day for underground work instead of seven.

If the workers refuse the industrialists will probably carry out their threat and close down, throwing all their unemployed into the mercy of unemployment doles.

Soup kitchens have been opened in most of the Ruhr towns, and the unemployed are seen, handing in their pitances of three billion marks for a quart of soup mixture composed mostly of beet potatoes and a tiny morsel of bacon.

The unemployment list at Gelsenkirchen numbers about 40,000; Essen, 50,000; Dortmund, 60,000; 70,000; Duisburg, about 100,000; Mülheim, 50,000; Hamburg, 30,000; 40,000. If all the industrial plants close as threatened, the unemployed in the Ruhr area will reach from 700,000 to 800,000. The Bochum Verein has already turned out 20,000 men and has threatened to drop 40,000 Saturday.

DIVIDED ALASKA IS VOTED

Six of Eight Cities Stand 1264 to 89; Leaders of Parties See Solace in State Returns

JUNEAU (Alaska) Nov. 7.—Returns received today from six of eight cities voting yesterday in a special election on the question separating the southeastern part of the Territory from the northern section, showed 1264 in favor of the division and 89 against the union.

The vote on the territorial division was light, running about 50 per cent of registration. The towns included in the above returns were Juneau, Douglas, Skagway, Petersburg, Angell and Ketchikan.

No returns have been received from Sitka or Haines. At the latter city, however, election officials issued a statement that the residents were unanimously in favor of a division convention which will be held here November 15.

The purpose of the convention will be to provide ways and means of presenting to Congress the views of the Territory. Cordova and Copper River Valley will probably be invited to join the Southeastern Alaska division, it was hinted by officials here today.

The elections were only held in the Panhandle of Alaska, bounded on the east by British Columbia and Yukon Territory, on the north by the Malaspina glacier north of Yakutat Bay, the Pacific Ocean on the west and British Columbia on the south. One delegate for every 300 votes registered at the last municipal elections will be selected by the incorporated municipalities to attend the division convention. Three delegates-at-large to represent the unincorporated communities of the Territory will be appointed by Scott Bone, Governor of Alaska.

BOTH PARTIES "ENCOURAGED"
WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Despite the few changes in the results of the day's off-year election in the political may of the country, the leaders of both of the great political parties professed today to find comfort in the outcome. Speaking for the Republican administration, National Chairman Adams directed the attention of political observers to Vermont, which has been placed in the Republican ranks despite the Senatorial campaign waged by the Democrats, and to the Twenty-fourth Congressional District of New York, where a Republican was chosen to succeed Chairman Hull of the Democratic committee, on the other hand, invited attention to the re-election of a Democratic Governor in Maryland and to the Democratic gubernatorial victory in Kentucky, the only State to change its political complexion.

RECORD PRESENTED.
Capt. Watson was the only important witness to be heard today. He appeared solely to present his naval record—a praiseworthy list of achievements—to the court.

Plea for a verdict of guilty from Judge-Advocate Leslie E. Bratton and exonerated from the part of the Captain and the Captain's counsel closed the session.

Briefly, the prosecution held that the wreck was the result of avoidable negligence and miscalculation on the part of the Captain and his subordinates. The defense claimed that it was a combination of Providence, abnormal luck, and contradictory radio bearings, a freak sea current which sent the ship on the rocks.

Neither the court, the Judge-Advocate nor Capt. Watson would make a statement today. Hunter will be continued tomorrow.

Manual	W	1	0
L. A. High	W	1	0

Poly at Manual. (Poly home team.)

L. A. High at Jeff Babes.

Hollywood at Lincoln.

With the two leading, undefeated teams, Lincoln and Hollywood, drawing this week, today's round of play in the City Lightweight League will be fairly tame.

Poly meets Manual and L. A. High tackles Jeff Babes in the only two contests left for today. Franklin also draws a bye.

POLY IS FAVORED

The Toller midge has not broken into the point column in the standings yet, losing both of their games to Jefferson and Lincoln. Poly lost its first game to Lincoln, but got one point by playing a tie with Jefferson last Thursday. On the comparative scores, Poly should trim Manual today, but comparative scores this season, as in the past, have got most of the doers at tangled up instead of helping survival the winners of the gridiron pastime.

L. A. High has won one game and lost one and has two points to its credit, dropping a close scrap to Hollywood two weeks ago. It was fumbles that spoiled what chances the Pioneers youngsters had against Hollywood and unless they have gotten over this habit they are in for a cleaning today. Jefferson has improved greatly since its first two games and will give the Pioneers a tough battle, fumbles or not.

LINCOLN SPEEDING

Coach Lynn Livernash's Lincoln lightweight have copied four games in a row and if they down Hollywood next week in their final struggle they will have clinched the pennant. However, Hollywood is still in the unbeaten class and a victory for the Movie City Babes over Lincoln will give the championship to Hollywood, although it is rumored that the movie crew is playing an ineligible lightweight, according to the four-point system, and may be forced to forfeit all the games it has won. If that happens L. A. High will get back into the race providing the Pioneers get by Jeff today.

GOLDEN BEARS

Off Tonight for Big Game

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—The University of California football squad will leave tomorrow afternoon for Los Angeles, where it will play the University of Southern California Saturday. The Bears have held secret practice daily this week. Most of the players are reported in tip-top shape. Capt. Don Nichols has recovered from his illness, and is ready to fill a halfback's shoes. The other first-string men can start the game if Coach Andy Smith desires. The Bears have crucial games on the two succeeding Saturdays—with Washington and Stanford, respectively, both at Berkeley.

PHOENIX HOLDS SHOOT

PHOENIX, Nov. 7.—Phoenix High School will shoot a rifle in the city with El Paso High some time in December, each team on its own range. A similar contest last time was won by Phoenix.

BUMPER TALKS

Hey, People!

The Boss just told me that he was going to enter the Stewart-Warner Products Service Station in the Auto Show that starts Saturday and asked me if I thought the Bumper Shop ought to be represented too. You know I told him to just try and keep me out. I even threatened to get hold of the hardest sold fly post I could find and pull off an exhibit of my own. If I didn't make a place for Stewart Autoguards in the display he put me in. So guess you'll find us there all right.

P. S.—Drop in and look our exhibit over. You'll be surprised. I might even be there myself. Who can tell?

Numerous Upsets Prompt Coaches in Northwest to Build Up Teams' Strength

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PORTLAND, (Or.) Nov. 7.—In this season of upsets every team in the Pacific Northwest is putting forth valiant efforts to build up its strength in midseason. It used to be that when a player was selected early in the fall for the varsity he felt pretty confident that he would be a first-teamer throughout the season. That has all been changed and only the outstanding stars are certain of a permanent berth.

It is impossible to recall a season when the coaches of the northern conference teams were so busy shifting their men around, trying them in the positions and watching their second-string squad closely for material to strengthen the first team. On the whole the play has been spotted; the best teams have had their off days and most of the teams seem to be lacking in some department to make them well-balanced football machines.

GREATEST DEVELOPMENT

The greatest development since the season started doubtless has been at Washington State. Coach Exendine had a full appreciation of the problem he faced in his first season, although he lacks the Duke's aggressiveness. There will be a solution of the problem satisfactory to both men.

Klepper is noncommittal as to who will manage Portland next season. Duke Kenworthy has returned to Portland, and can fill the bill. But Jimmy Middleton made a fine showing last season, although he lacks the Duke's aggressiveness. There will be a solution of the problem satisfactory to both men.

There was the usual crop of fall rumors regarding the resignation of various managers, and these included Ty Cobb.

Haney says there is no foundation for this. "Why, Cobb can go on managing the Detroit Tigers for the rest of his life if he wants the job," said Fred. In fact, he says that it is the general belief among Detroit ball players that Ty recently signed a contract for five more seasons.

Haney, a wonderful football player in high school, later a gridiron professional, and who has been ready for a long time in the country, saw a number of contests in the Middle West before returning to the States.

He does not think there is a great deal to choose between the Coast and Middle Western brands of football. Individually, he would be inclined to give the edge to our Coast brand, but he believes the difference is in the climate there is no competition with football. When the gridiron season opens, by this time the practice period, there is nothing to distract the players. Everything has been gotten, and everything centers in football. In fact, after the world series, you are lucky to get news or chatter in the papers."

TORRILY BALANCED

The University of Oregon has been the center of the poorer balance of the teams in the conference. Huntington is trying out all his bag of tricks to smother it out. Its main strength has been in the backfield. The line has been weak in spots and particularly the ends have been unsatisfactory. Huntington has been trying out all his bag of tricks to smother it out. Its main strength has been in the backfield. Dick Reed, tackle, has been practicing at end and Ridley, one of the regular ends, is improving. While a big fellow named Kinney is showing promise. If Reed is put at end permanently it will weaken the center of the line as Cogs Campbell, who returned to school late and has been out of the line, is now ready to play.

QUERY BY PRESS ROUSES NATIONS

Coolidge's Reply Inspires
Lloyd George's Demand

Curzon-Hughes Dispatches
Strike at Tangle

New Hope of Peace Raised by Diplomacy

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Coolidge probably had little thought that he was making history when, in reply to a written question submitted by a newspaper man at a recent White House press conference, he restated the desire of the American government to be helpful in solving Europe's great problem, the reparations tangle. Yet within ten days his statement became the peg upon which world events of far-reaching importance turned. It appears within the range of possibility that a step has been taken by the nations that will lay the grim specter of war now looming behind the discord and controversy in Europe.

Oddly enough, the place of origin of the sequence of events that led up to the recently published correspondence between Lord Curzon and Secretary Hughes was neither in Washington nor London, but near the Canadian border where David Lloyd George talked with the American newspaper men accompanying him on his trip to Canada and the United States. Among the newspaper men assigned to travel with him were some who knew that the crucial thing in world history at the moment was that seething turmoil of conflicting economic and political ambitions whirling about the reparations question. They knew something of the ardent desire in England that America should step forward to help right matters abroad. They knew, too, of the political difficulties at home that involved any attempt by the American government to go further than it had already done without success in proffering American aid in this world crisis.

VISITOR RESPONSIVE

So in the conference with "L. G." as the newspaper men styled the distinguished visitor, the reporters sought expressions from the former Premier as to ways and means by which the United States might again hold out a hand to perplexed Europe. They found "L. G." quickly responsive to this line of questioning. The gray-haired little man was prompt to assert his belief that the destiny of civilization was in American keeping.

In Washington the newspaper writers began to take it up. They sought information at the State Department as to the possibility of reviving Secretary Hughes's proposal for an economic inquiry into German capacity to pay. There seemed to be none. The plan stated where it was left when France rejected it ten months before.

Then the Washington writers turned to the White House. A question calling attention to the published reports of the pleas for American help being voiced by Lloyd George was prepared. After the Cabinet meeting, as is customary, the President received the newspaper men and made such statements as he could in reply to their inquiries. In the course of his talk to them he came last to this particular question. The President then made his declaration on October 9 that the United States would be willing to join the Allied powers in a new conference to adjust the reparations tangle. The declaration was coupled with the restrictions which the American government has from the first attached to its adherence to any plan: That the reparations difficulty must be dealt with on its merits as an economic situation, and that the American government could have no part in any conference that considered European political factors in the snarl.

The news writers hastened to send out bulletins over the wires to their papers reporting indirectly what President Coolidge had said. A great press association flashed a fifty-word summary over its thousands of miles of wires to hundreds of American papers and over the Atlantic cables to England and France, where European papers gave it prominent display.

Mr. Lloyd George on that day was speeding across Canada in a special train. His car was equipped with a radio receiving set and news and music were buzzing in the air. The announcer came to the bulletin from Washington telling of President Coolidge's declaration. "L. G." listened eagerly. Because of his intimate knowledge of affairs in London and in Paris the President's words held for him a significance they did not have for the news writers in Washington or, probably, for the President himself. Mr. Lloyd George evidently realized that the psychological moment for making a new attempt to bring France to agreement on some form of conference, with America sitting at the conference table, was close at hand.

At once the former Premier summoned the newspaper men on his train. Through them he issued a statement to the world backing up and supporting the American President's American position. He demanded of the British and French governments that they seize on this opportunity to reunite with America in search of the way to world peace.

Then events moved swiftly. On October 12, just a day after the first publication in London of President Coolidge's statement, Lord Curzon's message to Secretary Hughes was flowing westward through the cable. Mr. Hughes's eloquent answer, renewing the invitation to Europe to seek American aid in the crisis, went back promptly, and within another week the stage was being set for such a conference as Secretary Hughes had proposed nearly a year before.

"Hothouse Farming" by Proxy —in Imperial Valley

John E. Kennedy

WOULD you plant FIELD CROPS in a HOT-HOUSE?

Would you plant crops that bring no PREMIUM in price for EARLY marketing, on Lands capable of producing the FIFST Fruits and Vegetables in America each Season?

Would you plant Field Crops yielding $25 to $50 per Acre on Imperial Valley "Hot-house Lands" that CAN yield $250 to $500 per Acre WHEN planted with EARLY and rare Fruits for which there is a Waiting Market?

Well,—hardly!

But,—in this year of 1923, Imperial Valley had under Crop the following acreages:

- Field Crops—286,730 Acres—about 84% of total.
- Vegetables—45,112 Acres—about 13 1/2% of total.
- Fruits—8686 Acres—about 2 1/2% of total.

Of this latter item, Grapes are specifically given at 5,931 Acres, Grapefruit at 1,025 Acres, Strawberries at 530 Acres,—Figs, Dates and deciduous fruits making up the balance.

The Earliest Fruits and Vegetables in U. S.

NOW WHY,—in the limited irrigated area of the world's most fertile Valley,—should so LITTLE Acreage be planted to the most profitable crops it could possibly grow,—to the EARLIEST FRUITS and Vegetables which can be ripened FIRST for market here?

Why use these wonderful "Hot-house Farms" of Imperial Valley to grow mere Field Crops netting less than $50 per Acre, when they would intensively grow the EARLIEST Table Grapes in America (as well as Figs, Dates and other special Fruits) that can net $200—$500, or even $1000 per Acre in yearly profits?

BECAUSE,—Imperial Valley has not yet "found itself."

It is the YOUNGEST area of Super-rich, irrigated, Sub-sea-level, agricultural land in America.

Only 23 years ago it was part of the great Colorado Desert,—a treeless, grassless, waterless, stretch of barren Country.

When Irrigation from the great Colorado River converted it suddenly into an agricultural "Valley of the Nile," much of its lands were purchased by speculators and held for automatic rise in market value.

To temporarily make these Lands pay Interest and Taxes many such Owners rent them to small Tenant Farmers.

Field Crops cost relatively little to plant and in Imperial Valley give a return, satisfactory to the small Tenant Farmer, the FIRST year after planting.

Intensive Cultivation,—the planting, care, and proper cultivation of Fruit Trees and Vines,—requires 3 1/2 years to 6 years investment of Capital and Labor before they bring their first substantial return to the planter.

A lone County producing $75,000,000 Yearly

IMPERIAL VALLEY contains a relatively SMALL acreage of Fruit Land, compared with other great Valleys of California that lie further north.

Contrast its total 603,000 Acres of arable and irrigable land with the TEN MILLION Acres of the mighty San Joaquin Valley.

But,—even in that relatively small Area,—the federal census of 1920 showed that this one COUNTY produced Agricultural Products to the value of $60,000,000—exclusive of Livestock worth Five Million Dollars more (in 1922—$75,000,000).

The entire STATE of Utah, according to that census, produced in round figures 58 Millions; Massachusetts 63 Millions; Vermont 47 Millions; Connecticut 44 Millions; Arizona 42 Millions; New Mexico 40 Millions, and Nevada 14 Millions of Agricultural Products in the same period.

That a mere COUNTY—only 50 miles across and only 20 years removed from wilderness conditions—could so vastly exceed in Crop Values these long-settled STATES, containing Millions of Acres, surely bears UNDENIABLE witness to the enormous fertility of Imperial Valley Soil.

But, unfortunately such success now conduces to this great natural "Hot-house" being continuously, but mistakenly, used to produce mere Field Crops and Livestock, when it SHOULD be growing, on at least half its Acreage, the most profitable of all Crops instead, to wit: EARLY Fruits and EARLY Vegetables.

CUDAHY FARM OPERATING CO.

—a Subsidiary of Cudahy Packing Co.,—Chicago

THE Cudahy Farm Operating Co. has nothing to sell the public but SERVICE. It has neither Stocks, Securities nor Land to sell. It OPERATES Fruit and Vegetable Lands for the profit there is in actually and skillfully FARMING them. It has already leased, and is now Operating a carefully selected and approved acreage of EARLY Fruit Lands in the El Centro Area of Imperial Valley. "Hot-House" Fruit Lands like these, when profitably leased to such responsible Tenants as the Cudahy Interests, provide ideal Income producers for Safety, combined with immediate revenue and the moral certainty of vast increase in Value of property.

No Need to Live on the Land. Let George do it!

TEN Acres of such Imperial Valley "Hot-House Land" can deliver "$2500 a year—for Life." —Provided they are skillfully planted, with rooted vines, to the EARLIEST GRAPES GROWN IN AMERICA. (Bear in mind that Grape Vines and Fig Trees practically Live for Ever.)

Such Grapes are being commercially shipped in JUNE and JULY from Imperial Valley Basin ONLY, while all other Grape-growing localities in California ship 99% of total State production in August, September, October. A leading Shipper of Fresno, who markets over 4000 Carloads of Fruits and Vegetables from California, states in writing, that the price he received this year for California Malaga

Grapes (exclusive of Imperial Valley Malagas) was equal to $104 to $145 per Ton.

But $249 per Ton was the LOWEST PRICE he received for IMPERIAL VALLEY Malaga Grape shipments and $270 per Ton AVERAGE.

The particular "Hothouse Farms" of Imperial Valley here referred to are owned by Fuller Land Co. Leased to Cudahy Farm Operating Co. and so are today IMMEDIATE INCOME PRODUCERS.

Sold exclusively by Kennedy, Hardie & Co.—Land Brokers and Sole Leasing Agents.

THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

POWER COMFORT

There's too much generality in all this automobile sales talk," disgustedly declared the president of a big Southern California corporation. "I'm going to learn the facts."

He called for his auditor. "We have the leading makes of automobiles in our passenger fleet," he explained. "I want a report showing every penny spent on these cars for—well, say 25,000 miles."

When a cost analysis of automobile operating expenses was laid before the president he glanced quickly at the figures—and looked up in amazement.

"Why, this is astounding," he declared. "You are sure it's accurate?"

"Absolutely right—to the penny," stated the auditor.

(And it is well for you to know now that this business drama is based on an examination of the actual cost records of four big fleet owners. The Baskerville Audit Co., certified public accountants of Los Angeles, have verified the accuracy of the remarkable figures quoted in this story.)

"Why, I always thought six cylinders cost more to operate! This shows that they cost less!"

"They do," agreed the auditor. "I've divided our automobiles into three classes, and the second class cars, selling at prices from $700 to $1200, show the greatest expense. They cost $207.50 more to operate than our Studebaker Light Sixes."

"But how about the difference in selling price?" questioned the president.

"That's figured in. I've added the price to the operating costs and subtracted the resale value. At the end of 25,000 miles the 'savings' in price has been spent on greater repair bills. The man who drives a Studebaker Light Six for 25,000 miles is $277.50 ahead of the man who drives a car in the $700 to $1200 price class. That's counting everything!"

"But how about the cheapest, third class cars—the ones that sell below $700?"

"Well, the average price of those cars is $559. Subtract that from the $1210 price of a Studebaker Light Six, and it looks like you save $651 by getting the cheap car. But after 25,000 miles—what a difference! Your lower operating cost was just 4-100 of a cent per mile. You only saved $10 in 25,000 miles! That makes your price difference insignificant, doesn't it?"

"Why—it's not worth it," said the president. "Our cheaper cars are in the repair shop more often—they delay our men."

"There are other disadvantages," continued the auditor. "Drivers of our second and third class cars haven't the pride or efficiency of men who drive Studebakers. Cheap car drivers are soon tired by the rough riding. Why—these figures show that our Studebakers actually cover half again as many miles per month as second class cars—and 51% more miles than third class cars."

"Let's see," mused the president. "We need two more cars." He reached for the phone and dialed 874-361. "Hello—Paul G. Hoffman Co.? Send over a salesman—I want to save some more money!"

If it's economy you want—these figures PROVE that it costs you $207.50 more to drive a lower priced car than to drive the Studebaker. Of course you can save $10 in 25,000 miles by driving one of the cheapest third class cars—but is it worth while?

Wouldn't you gladly pay $10 more to drive a Studebaker Light Six—to be free from repairs and delays? Think of it! A wonderful six-cylinder car—a beautiful car that you'll be PROUD to own! And these figures prove that YOU CAN AFFORD IT! Trade in your present car on a Studebaker Light Six—you'll be money ahead.

Telephone the Paul G. Hoffman Co. now, and have a car sent to your address so you can drive it yourself!

Do you understand the remarkable significance of this cost analysis? Can you see how it revolutionizes thought on automobile values?

Tell this startling story in your own words. There are so many different angles—so many different ways to new thinking—that you can easily explain the Story of Studebaker Savings. Sixteen cash prizes—for a few minutes' time! Write now—win a prize.

Ten Reasons Why Security Apartments "Are Going Like Hot Biscuits and Honey"

1. That wonderful location—50 steps north of Hollywood Boulevard—diagonally across the street from the Public Library.
2. Most beautiful apartment structure in the West—a veritable modern palace—a monument of architectural and engineering science.
3. That distinctive open air Italian Court garden with its fountain, feras and shrubbery.
4. Those spacious and magnificently furnished lobbies.
5. The luxurious glass-enclosed roof sun-parlors—where one may obtain grand vistas of Hollywood, the foothills, mountains and the ocean—a place to rest, relax and bask in health-giving sunshine.
6. Housekeeping reduced to a science through modern electrical equipment—heating, cooking, dishwashing, refrigeration, vacuum cleaning, incinerators, etc. Maid service for all domestic duties except cooking and serving meals.
7. Modern laundry and drying rooms for common use.
8. Upkeep cost will be considerably less than that of a detached home of equal value—with far more convenience, comfort, luxuries, and privileges.
9. That attractive investment feature. The property should double in value as Hollywood grows. This is like close-in business property. You can sell or lease at any time. A $6000 apartment should bring $150 a month—or 30 per cent per annum.
10. Thinking people are weary of wasting money in rent—tired of raises in rent—tired of poor quarters at high prices. That's why Security apartments are selling so rapidly.

JURY INDICTS POISON WOMAN

Exhumation of Potegian's
Body Ordered

Prisoner Faces Intended

Inquest Over Mother's Body Today

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
FRESNO, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Ella Potegian of Fresno, 33 years of age, was indicted today by the county grand jury for the murder of her 18-year-old step-daughter, Margaret Potegian, to whom, she has confessed, she served poisoned food.

At the same time preparations were made by Dist. Atty. George R. Lovejoy to exhumate the body of the woman's husband, George Potegian, who died last June. If traces of mineral poison are found in the body a second indictment against Mrs. Potegian, charging the murder of her husband, will be asked.

When Potegian died it was known he was a sufferer from a chronic disease and his demise was ascribed to that. The case was placed before the jury at 9:30 o'clock this morning by Lovejoy and the true bill was returned at 2 o'clock this afternoon before Superior Judge D. A. Cushman.

In response to a request by the jury after hearing the testimony of the State's witnesses, Mrs. Potegian herself was brought to the jury room at 1 o'clock, but her only statement was: "I've already told my story and I don't want to repeat it."

As she entered the jury room she saw for the first time since her arrest, the 21-year-old stepson, George Potegian, whom she admits she sought to eliminate in the same poison plot. The woman started, faltered, then drew herself taut and marched straight ahead to the jury room, while the boy turned abruptly away.

Lovejoy today prepared an official request to Coroner John N. Lisle to have Potegian's body exhumed an autopsy performed and an inquest held.

Mrs. Potegian was declared today by attaches of the Sheriff's office to have recovered her normal condition after suffering from hysteria which she suffered Monday on learning that her mother, Mrs. Mary Potegian, who was also suspected of knowledge of the daughter's crime, and of a poison plot of her own against members of the family of her brother-in-law, A. Torosian, committed suicide by hanging herself in the Torosian home near White's Bridge Road.

An inquest will be held over Mrs. Torosian's body tomorrow.

DESEDITION

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Lawrence R. Wilder, wealthy engineer and manufacturer, 1330 North State street, will be granted his plea for a divorce from Mrs. Agnes Parton Wilder, only daughter of James A. Parton, "wheat king," Judge John J. Sullivan indicated today.

The Wilders were married in 1911 and have three adopted children. Mrs. Wilder went to Montecito, Cal., early in the spring, taking the children with her.

Wilder filed his suit June 12, 1923, charging that his wife refused to live with him as his wife, although continuing to live with him under the same roof.

Mrs. Wilder, in her reply, charged Wilder had not been a resident of Cook county for more than a year, as required by law, and cited the advantages of the California climate for the children as one reason for her residence there.

A THOUSAND romances cling to it! Aristocratic association with the most unpretentious home. Hamburger's fifth floor of furniture is the common meeting ground for the old and the new adaptations that make period furniture compatible with swift movement of modern living.

A NEW age with new needs! Yet the magic of old masters touches as caressingly the modern of spring as ever it clung to their own. Again and again Today's designers seek inspiration from the "golden age of furniture"—Heppelwhite—Queen Anne—Adam—William and Mary—Sheraton! From the last came the suite sketched $490.00, its simple dignity abundant evidence that nothing other than that master, Thomas Sheraton, influenced its building. Mahogany polished to a satin-sheen.

PICO BOULEVARD

THE BACKBONE OF LOS ANGELES

Pico Boulevard is the great backbone of Los Angeles.

Starting at the river, Los Angeles is building westward with a speed that is almost breath taking—even to those of us who are most familiar with it.

If you will drive out on the knolls of Pico and view the landscape in all directions from there, you will be greatly impressed with the sight and be able to understand our story.

As you go you will see that every foot of the way is being subdivided with all possible speed. But when you reach the crest of the knolls you will see that the city is building back from Santa Monica and Sawtelle with possibly even greater speed.

The gap between the city and the sea is even now being closed.

The backbone of this activity, and of the city that is being built, is Pico Boulevard. Based at the river, in the heart of our great industrial district along Santa Fe Avenue, it is industrial and wholesale to Main street and retail from Main to Rimpau.

Following the Aladdin-like home building from Rimpau to the sea Pico will become a retail street from Main street in Los Angeles to the bay at Santa Monica.

Note that the calculated future center of the shopping district is on Pico, and that Pico is nearly solid with retail business from Main to Western and has retail sections at intervals from Western to Rimpau.

Pico is the great central artery from the center of the industrial area and the future center of the shopping district through the center of our westward development to the center of the west beach.

In every way Pico occupies an advantageous middle ground. It is not close enough to the mountains to destroy the perspective and spoil the view, or get their reflected heat, nor too close to the Baldwin Hills on the south, or the flats at their feet. It has plenty of room on both sides.

Neither the most luxurious nor the most humble homes will be along it, but the great bulk of the better middle-class homes ---the kind of homes that are the backbone of our business and social structure.

It is most inspiring, here in the center of it all, to look out upon the great development and unfoldment of a city over so many miles of area, with so many different backgrounds.

The compelling forces are all natural ones. They are not man-made. The work of men is only following natural courses and lines of least resistance. The foundation is already laid.

Many things can be done to improve, round out and embellish that which is already established. These will be done. Much of the way, Pico is now 100 feet wide. Elsewhere it will be widened. When fully paved, parked, lighted and built up it will be our central business street 16 miles long.

This is a picture to contemplate. It requires thought on the part of all those having to do with the development of our city, and invites the consideration of merchants, business men, investors, home-builders.

It also brings to our attention the great amount of retail business already existing between Main street and Rimpau Avenue ---about 4½ miles.

From day to day modern and progressive business will succeed such elements as are not so, until Pico becomes a more widely known shopping center---a "greater Pico."

If the spirit of progress had not already seized upon Pico you would not be reading this page.

Perhaps you will want to take some part in this progress. It is an enterprise worthy of your metal, your pride, and your business consideration.

If you come, bring your best efforts to be of service, because only as we strive to give can we be of service to each other, our city, and reap our own reward.

CROWDS AT "WESTERN AUTO" OPENING

Portion of the Crowd Which Listened to Mayor Cryer At the "Western Auto" New Building

HUNDREDS FAIL TO GAIN ADMITTANCE

To the New Magnificent Building of the Western Auto Supply Company

That California, and Southern California in particular, is the center and fountain-head of motoring pleasure was proven beyond a doubt Tuesday night by the enthusiasm of the vast crowds that thronged the new Western Auto Supply building at Eleventh and Grand. The evening was dedicated to the motorist, and the keen interest displayed in the various displays of up-to-the-minute equipment and automobile motoring accessories showed that the Californian is alive to motor comfort. From the purely ornamental to the highly practical, the range of equipment shown covered almost every motoring need, for any type of car. The items carried by the Western Auto Supply Company include, it is said, over 5,000 different and distinct articles of accessories and equipment, tools and repair materials. The crowds that invaded the new magnificent building of Western Auto were enthusiastic over the structure, its beauty, its convenience, its many interesting features and the precision and care with which the store has been arranged. Particularly interesting to the visitor was the unique display of Camp Goods, in the Camp Goods Section. This section has been transformed into a literal woodland scene at the expense of thousands of dollars. The huge concrete columns in that section of the store have been covered with make-believe bark, and thus converted into immense giants of the forest, with spreading branches and foliage lending a very picturesque air to the department. Mountains and lakes in the distance, painted of course, on the walls, and make-believe campfire scenes with tents and modern equipment in use, point the way to the supreme pleasures awaiting the motorists in Southern California. That was the theme all the way through the display of last evening, and everyone there—from the Ford owner to the Pierce-Arrow and Rolls-Royce devotee—was carried away with enthusiasm at the beauty and excellence of the surroundings. The opening was really the first opportunity that the Southern California motoring public has had of meeting the personnel of the Western Auto Supply Company informally. Mr. and Mrs. Pepperdine

MEXICO COTTON CROP IS SHORT

Many Mills May Be Forced to Close Down

Textile Industry to Feel Loss Severely

Federal Aid Is Expected to Improve Situation

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Nov. 7.—The probability of a shortage of cotton sufficient to cause many of the textile mills of Mexico to close down daily is growing greater, according to dispatches reaching here from the City of Mexico. These are based largely on the report of the Minister of Agriculture, made public through the newspaper "Excelsior," which shows that, as a result of the unprecedented long drought of last year in the Laguna district only about 25,000 bales of cotton would be made. The ordinary crop is approximately 200,000 bales.

Mexico's textile plants ordinarily use about 150,000 bales of cotton and have entered the new crop season with but little surplus. The fact that it is reported in Mexico that the United States would have little cotton for export this year was commented upon as a most serious phase of the situation.

FREIGHT TOO HIGH—Exorbitant freight rates which prevail at present preclude the use of cotton from the Lower California fields to advantage, the government report says, and the entire Lower California output will be sold to manufacturers in the United States or to Asiatic buyers for export.

In view of the impending crisis, the government of Mexico is taking elaborate precautions against a repetition of the crop failure next year, or in the future, chiefly by studying soils and climates of other regions.

The completion of this investigation has developed the fact that in the State of Tamaulipas there are large areas of unsurpassed quality for the cultivation of the staple. The Ministry of Agriculture and Promotion, therefore, has decided to designate a committee of engineers to study the agricultural problem in that State, particularly with a view to taking a census of available lands, and the cotton and taking preliminary steps for their organization to work the plantations that probably will be put in cultivation.

TO IMPORT LABOR—A proposition under consideration by the government is the importation into Tamaulipas of a number of new laborers from other districts of the country, as well as some from the United States, in order to have expert handling of the crop at the start. The first experiments in cotton cultivation will be made on government-owned lands with later chance to acquire the farms which they are working used as an attraction to draw skilled cotton labor to Tamaulipas. The conversion of the laborers into landed proprietors is proposed to be effected by means of organization of a co-operative society, supported during its early stages by the government.

Interesting statistics on the Mexican textile industry were made public by the Ministry of Foreign Relations recently. From November 1, 1922, to April 30, 1923, there were 133 cotton textile and weaving plants. Of these plants eleven were devoted entirely to manufacture of textiles, six to weaving, only ninety-seven to both textiles and weaving, six to textiles, caps and bonnets; twelve to textiles, weaving and stamping, one to stamping cloth already made up and one to dyeing cloth.

CAPITAL INVESTED—Capital invested in machinery, buildings and other physical properties totals $71,728,806.27; number of operatives 40,621; number of workshops, 29,503; number of spindles, 801,639; combing machines 213; weaving, cap, bonnet machinery, 163; stamping machines, 51; 40,581 horsepower was consumed during the six month period in operating the machines.

Cotton consumed during the period amounted to 16,617,422 kilograms (4 kilograms is 2.2 pounds); sales reported $49,193,142.75. The factories produced 122,489,526 meters of cotton cloth, 22,814 dozen towels, blankets and bedspreads, 544,171 dozens of hosiery, underwear, sweaters and miscellaneous goods.

COAL MINE SAFETY MEASURES ADVISED—OFFICIAL POINTS TO BIG LOSS IN LAST TEN YEARS

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Mine disasters due to coal-dust explosions can be prevented by inexpensive safety measures, chiefly the sprinkling of the mine with powdered shale, the American Association for Labor Legislation declared. The explosion in the West Virginia coal mine Tuesday, in which twenty-seven miners were killed and an important mine property wrecked, said Secretary John B. Andrews, "is the most recent of an appalling series of major disasters in coal mines. In 1923 thus far there have been four major disasters, with a loss of 256 lives, following eleven major disasters in 1922, due to explosions, which caused the death of 244 men. In ten years we have killed nearly 25,000 miners."

Other safety measures advocated by the association included "the placing of mine inspectors upon a basis of training and experience, and protecting them against political interference, together with the strengthening of workmen's compensation laws so as to offer inducements to careful employers who reduce hazards by proper safeguards."

MAH JONGG GAME DRAWS TALE OF OLD CHINATOWN

Lawyer-Player Thrills Companions
With Drama of Petite Bow Kum;
Impulse of Tong Warfare

BY RAYMOND G. CARROLL
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
(Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The shaded lights on the walls threw a soft oriental glow upon the occidental players gathered around the inlaid mah jongg table in the card room of a Westchester-county residence. The occupants of the high-backed teakwood chairs eagerly turned to the lawyer of the party who had casually remarked: "This game of the mandarins always brings forcibly to my mind the sad story of poor little Bow Kum, the belle of Chinatown."

"Tell it, Terry," beseeched the evening's hostess, a beautiful brunette matron.

"Oh, do," chimed in her sister, a petite blonde.

IN FAR-OFF CANTON

From the men and the other ladies came a chorus of approval. The lawyer began: "In far-off Canton, from which great city America draws 99 per cent of its Chinese, a female of the masses is a chattel sold by her parents to the highest bidder. Those who buy are the very mandarins to whose use this very game of mah jongg is restricted in China."

He paused to recount the fact that his firm's practice in recent years had been confined almost exclusively to the civil courts. He benched the circumstances that civil cases are almost always lacking in heavy dramatic features, and fail to contain the romance which invariably attaches to the trial of criminal cases. Lawyers are that way, always sketching in a prologue.

"But of all the murder cases I have tried—I have tried many in which human lives were at stake—there were none which had more of the elements of the dramatic, and sometimes the romantic, than the case arising out of the Chinese tong warfare on the Lower East Side of Manhattan during 1919 and 1920," he said, getting down to his indoor thriller.

TWO ACCUSED

"The first of these cases was en-either willingly or unwillingly, by Chin Lin, a Chinese Don Juan and a prominent member of the On Leon Tong.

KIDNAPED ONE PINES

"Bow Kum was brought across the continent by Chin Lin, who married her Chinese fashion and established her at the Mott-street address in New York. Here, in the tenement home of Chin Lin, she plied—doubtless missed the luxury of her former abode. The Four Brothers avenged vengeance against not only Chin Lin, but his entire tong.

"One dark and sultry night in August she was found slashed to pieces in her room. The first person on the scene was Chin Lin, who immediately ran into the street and made a great outcry, and the police responded with alacrity, for they patrolled Chinatown in pairs in those days. The knife with which the deed was done lay blood-stained on the floor. As for the little blonde, she had died almost instantly.

"Suspicion was at once directed to Chin Lin, but his grief was so manifest and his protestations of innocence so vehement that the homicide bureau was convinced. The detectives, under the spur of the On Leon Tong, arrested Low and Low Seung, two of the most innocuous and ineffectual Chinese laundrymen I have ever seen in court. Of course, they were the Four Brothers' clan. I was retained to defend them.

CHIN LIN IN FUTURE

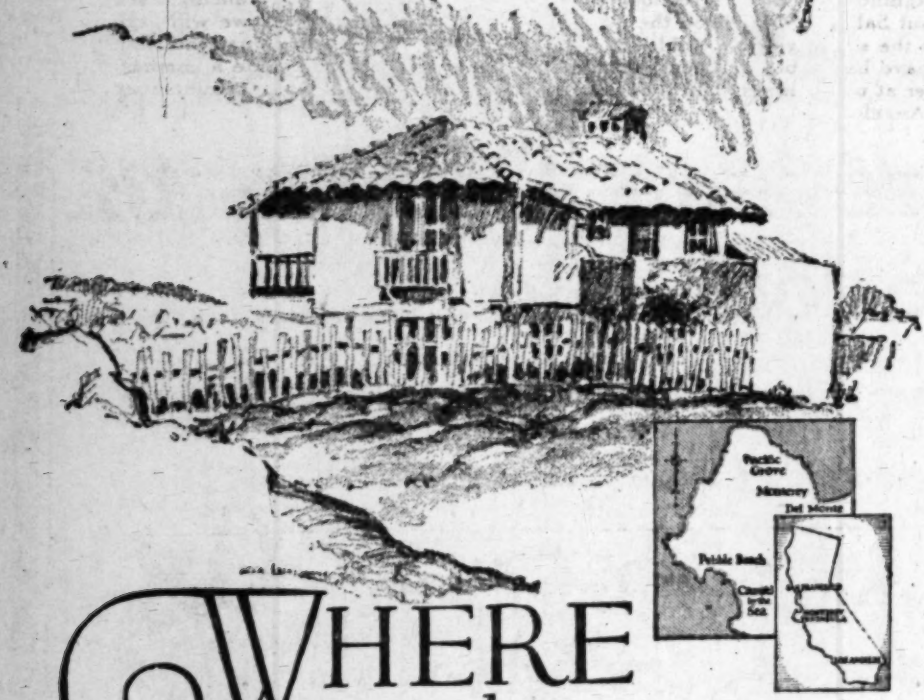

"I should say that the suspicions of the homicide bureau as to the guilt of the prisoners were not shared by the local police of the Elizabeth-street station, where Capt. Mike Galvin, one of the shrewdest detectives ever on the New York police force, was in charge. He firmly believed that the murder was committed by Chin Lin in a fit of jealous rage. I defended him, but he was found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment. The case was a landmark in the history of the Chinese community in New York, and the Chinese laundrymen I have ever seen in court. Of course, they were the Four Brothers' clan. I was retained to defend them.

"The Four Brothers, by the way, was not a tong in the accepted sense, but really a clan composed of the descendants of four brothers, who were the only survivors of a battle in one of the Chinese provinces adjacent to Canton centuries ago. The tradition ran that these four brothers, namely Low, Quan, Jong and Chu, in token of their deliverance from death, made a vow of eternal fealty, which was binding on them and all their descendants to a spirit of everlasting interfamily loyalty and brotherhood. The Chinese say that this vow has always been kept.

"The Bow Kum murder was simply a manifestation of this feeling. She originally was the gentle companion purchased from her parents by one of the Four Brothers clan. She lived in luxury in the Chinese quarter of San Francisco.

"One night she was kidnapped from the city of the Golden Gate.

Here is an ancient adobe, made modern and wonderfully livable by artistic restoration. Homes of every type are here.

WHERE every home is a CASTLE

Here on the Monterey Peninsula, every home is a castle for it represents a dream come true! Here are no homes hastily built to house a host of highway immigrants, for population doesn't engulf us in waves of restless migration.

Rather, selective persons have withdrawn from teeming marts—or turned from whirling industry—and come to see! Beholding—they have planned on living here.

Deliberately they've inspected sites, some that breast the calm, blue bays, or straddle mighty cliffs and view wide sweeps of land and sea; some that nestle close to mothering hills, or rest between deep forests and the flowered meads. Then they've built where wistful childhood dreams have been recalled—and where the future's vista is a gilded span of hopes fulfilled.

Especially if your purse be modest, is this said to you! For nowhere else can little income buy you more than here. And here the small and cozy home is every bit as much a castle as the mansion is. True, illustrious, wealthy people live here by the score; not because they're wealthy but because their tastes are ours, because they craved our kind and climate. Not all discriminating folk are wealthy. Little homes are myriad here.

So if you have even a modest stake or income—and seek a wondrous little world where California's as it used to be, write for our booklet. We've not a thing to sell—but many interesting things to tell. Write today.

Take the Seventeen Mile Drive on the Peninsula. See famous Hotel Del Monte, the gorgeous dahlia beds of Pacific Grove, the wondrous cypress groves, and the countless home sites. Here is real California, California as you've hoped to find it. Mail the coupon!

POLICE READY FOR ANYTHING

Officer Shows Technique in Pushing Baby Buggy for Sick Woman

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—After a few years as officer in Conciliation and Traffic Court, a man is qualified for most any kind of a job.

George Reid, veteran policeman, who has held that job for many years, was passing Nicollet avenue and Fourth street when a woman pushing a baby carriage and carrying a baby in her arms became ill.

Thomas Murphy, traffic officer, hastened to her assistance as a crowd gathered around the sick woman. "Who can help this lady?" Murphy demanded. "I have got to get back to my semaphores."

"I guess I can," Reid, who was in the crowd, said. "I guess I have handled everything that has come my way." And the big policeman took the baby under one arm, pushed the carriage and assisted the ill mother two blocks to a physician, while an admiring crowd noted his technique.

murder was committed, pointed it at him and asked him in an accusing voice: "Aren't you the man who took this dagger and plunged it into poor little Bow Kum?"

My summer, he crouched, clutching wildly at the sides of it, and without waiting for the interpreter to translate, he fairly shrieked in perfectly good English: "No, I did not."

The jury was tremendously impressed with this situation and it proved the turning point of the case. The case was directed wholly to pinning upon Chin Lin a series of circumstances pointing to his guilt. The jury, after a long deliberation, found him guilty and sentenced him to life imprisonment.

There was silence for a moment in the courtroom, when the blonde troublemaker "But who killed little Bow Kum?"

My dear madam," said the lawyer, "I have told in Chinese mystery—they are mysteries which are never solved, secrets that remain forever locked."

Then the playing of the great game of China was resumed.

CONFEDERATES SEE DRINKWATER'S "LEE"

Ovation greeted the stage appearance of actors portraying the beloved leaders of the lost cause and applause was great when Jefferson Davis stepped to the footlights.

Authorities on Confederate lore seemed satisfied with Drinkwater's conception of Southern character, but several Britishers, captivated by one actor saying "I am going to be a soldier, while another's a soldier, I say, now" graced upon Southern ears.

DAIRY COW PRAISED AS AID TO FARMER

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

MADISON (Wis.), Nov. 7.—The dairy cow is the salvation of the farmer, Chris Heen, Dairy and Food Commissioner of Minnesota, told the annual convention of the National Creamery Producer's Association here today. "Banks may fail, corporations dissolve and financiers mismanage, but the dairy cow will give you a chance to produce at a profit the human food for which there is no substitute," Commissioner Heen said.

ANGEL CITY POSTAL GAIN AGAIN LEADS

Shows Greatest Increase in Revenues of Any City on Pacific Slope

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Los Angeles again led all the Coast cities in the gain in postal receipts for October and was only exceeded in amount of increase in the whole country by New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Kansas City. The increase in dollars for the month for Los Angeles was $31,716.25 and in percentage was 13.12. San Francisco gained but 9.30 per cent and the total increase for that city was but $24,190.09.

Portland, Or., showed an increase over the same month last year of $27,342.82; Seattle gained only $16,050.54.

At present rate of increase Los Angeles will soon be in the class of cities having three-quarters of a million monthly receipts and as it is now only five cities run more than a million a month in receipts. These cities are New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and St. Louis. The great growth and supremacy of Los Angeles as a center of mail income on the Coast is due to the tremendous increase in the number of mail routes and new ship connections indicates in the minds of postal experts here that the city will be the largest mail revenue point in the western part of the United States.

MELBOURNE POLICE ROW CONTROLLED

Government Declines to Reinstate Unruly Officers in Ultimatum

BY JACK MYERS

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

(Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.)

MELBOURNE, Oct. 7.—Apart from isolated offences in the suburbs, the disturbance in connection with the strike of the Melbourne police have not been repeated and there is every indication that there will be no more trouble unless the strike extends to industrial unions.

The enrollment of special constables exceeds 1000 and they have been put on a war basis with resources and support. A large mobilization of special constables in any part of the city on short notice, including 200 light cavalry. Members of the intelligence corps, dispatch riders and others engaged in special service during the war are now available.

The government is refusing to reinstate the striking police, Dr. Arzly, chief secretary of the department, states that the strikers have "made their bed and now they must lie in it."

Searchlights from warships assisted in the detection of looting and in securing away thieves.

HARDING'S WIDOW AS DELEGATE

Ohio Friends Plan to Send Her to Republican Session; Choice May Influence

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding may take an active part in picking the next Republican nominee for President. She will if a plan being set on foot by her friends and those of the late President Harding prevail.

Everett Crow, postmaster of Marion, O., and for years a close associate of Mr. Harding, made known here that a movement had been started to name Mrs. Harding one of the six delegates at large from Ohio to the Republican convention.

As he has been in Marion and has talked with Mrs. Harding, it is assumed the plan has her sanction. It is known she has made clear since leaving the White House an intention to retain as close an association as possible with the affairs of government and the Republican party.

Mrs. Harding's entrance into a primary race unquestionably will be a matter of national interest in order to qualify it will be necessary for her to file a declaration of candidacy in the state of Ohio, designating, if there are more than one, which candidate she will support. Her choice consequently will wear, for many at least, the mantle of the late Executive, which may be an important factor in an evenly divided convention.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Scotch frugality came out strongly in a farewell party on board the promenade deck of the Anchor liner Columbia, which sailed yesterday for Glasgow, when twenty young men and women came to bid good-bye to Mary McCann. Johnny Paton played the mellophone and the young people sang and were supposed to dance, but the young men lined up against the rail and the girls did the dancing. One of the staidest was asked why the men were not doing the honors and replied: "Dancing is hard on the boots."

So Gameleddin Journeyed to Abyssinia

GREAT was the glory accorded a prophet of Mohamet who journeyed to far countries to spread the Moslem faith. So Gameleddin, Mufi of Aden, set out on a mission to Abyssinia.

Returning to Aden he told of a drink which had refreshed and sustained him through all the hardships of travel, and approved the use of this drink by the followers of Mohamet. Thus, coffee received the sanction of the Moslem Church.

Gameleddin, however, knew nothing of the delicious goodness of such coffee as you may enjoy—M. J. B. COFFEE.

Looking Ahead

THE best recommendation of an investment service is a past record of accurate and far-sighted interpretation of the major trends of business and the bond and stock markets.

MOODY'S INVESTMENT SERVICE has been tested, not by a brief period of two or three years, but by a record of fifteen years' continuous service to thousands of clients.

Predicting the great declines of security prices in 1911, 1917, 1919 and 1923; the advances in 1915, 1919 and 1921; the movements of trade throughout the entire period from 1900 to date—these are but a few notable instances of what our organization has accomplished, and they suggest that our interpretations of future conditions will be equally correct.

To those who are interested we shall be glad to mail a copy of a recent Special Letter which analyzes the entire post-war situation and points out our current position in the business and market cycle. Mention Number 239.

Up-to-Date:

A Parisian tad is that of the "bobbed" hair comb—like that "round comb" of childhood's days—fashioned from cut jet, and with it very long and elaborate carvings of the same material. The comb, however, is worn just above the upward curl of the "bob," terminating at a point in front of the ears. Thus are the twin ornaments, or triple ones, comb and earrings, closely related and most effective.

Helioforming the Future

"I like to project my taste and also to perpetuate myself, by the purchase of really good articles in silver, for the home," said Jessica, as we engaged in morning's shopping tour. I do not use the term "shopping" in the acceptance of merely looking for we both were intent upon purchasing gifts for Christmas and necessities for ourselves. Jessica's purse is of sufficient longitude to require but little restraint upon her part, and when we came upon the new "old Dutch" silver section in that big jewelry store, I thought she never would pause in her selections. What more charming for family gifts?" she exclaimed. "What more certain to become cherished heirlooms?" and she set aside a group of those containers shaped like beautiful birds, each feather carefully chiseled in silver of that romantic antique tint.

Return to Paradise

Paradise, sometimes in eclipse, has returned to millinery favor. A white paradise egret, standing at the front of a black velvet hat, was one of the most attractive attention in one of the exclusive local shops. The perennial beauty of black and white is thus particularly emphasized.

Buttoned Up and Buttoned Down

The fad for buttons grows apace. Many of the newest one-piece dresses are buttoned everywhere. Buttons down the front from chin to skirt hem; buttons the length of the long sleeves; buttons around the cuffs, along the collar, edging the pockets. Buttons in contrast so vivid as to be not forgotten for a moment, are jewelry.

Shoe Splendor

Evening slippers this season set no bounds to their caprice, as to coloring or material. Gold, silver, brocade, plain or brocade; velvet, silk, satin in tints either subdued or reflecting the rainbow; beaded, most elaborate, embroidery in self or contrasting shades. These are characteristics of modern slippers so beautiful that Cinderella's ghost must covet them, if she looks hereafter from that limbo of mythical characters, whence she has wended. In an especially smart shoe shop on Seventh street, I noted slippers of pastel-colored satin, converging to the shape and coloring of a tiny parrot, upon each rounded toe. Route Connects Victorville and Bear Valley

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 7.—The Warren G. Harding memorial road from Bear Valley to Victorville will be built by Masons of California if the plans of Joseph A. Green, Pasadena millionaire and president of the Bear Valley Chamber of Commerce, succeed.

Mr. Green presented his suggestion at a meeting of the Bear Valley Masonic Club last night when seventy-five men prominent in the lodges of various Southern California cities met at the mountain resort.

In his talk Mr. Green said that he had sounded out sentiment among a number of the Bear Valley men and it had been widely approved and many of them had volunteered substantial contributions.

The plan is that a paved boulevard be constructed as a memorial, and it was Mr. Green's proposal to the Masonic Club that Masons of the State launch the project. The suggestion met with instant approval.

It is roughly estimated that an all-year-around highway could be constructed from Victorville to Bear Valley at a cost of about $1,000,000.

The meeting was the occasion of the second annual duck dinner of the club, was the toastmaster. Among the speakers were General Manager Bank of the Ambassador Hotel at Los Angeles, F. S. Crain, Supervisor of Victorville, and J. W. Miller of Los Angeles and others.

CHURCH WANTS CLEAN CITY
Long Beach Brotherhood Demands That Officials
Clean Up Known Conditions of Bootlegging

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, Nov. 7.—A thorough clean-up of vice conditions in Long Beach and maximum jail sentences for bootleggers are two of the demands made here on city officials by the Federated Church Brotherhood and the official board of Grace Episcopal Church, it was revealed today.

The brotherhood committee which visited City Manager Windham yesterday, made it known that the membership is not fully satisfied that all possible being done for the routing of bootleggers and an offer was made to the City Manager to lend all possible support to the city in investigating conditions here.

In a resolution adopted by the official board of Grace Church, the police department and Police Judge Carl V. Hawkins are called upon to suppress the "known illegal sale of liquor in Long Beach." To bring about this suppression, the resolution demands maximum jail sentences for liquor sellers and points out that it describes as the "filthy and unjustified of imposing severe penalties on drinkers and showing leniency to bootleggers."

Police Judge Hawkins is asked in the resolution to adopt the policy followed by United States District Judge Bledsoe and Police Judge Sheldon.

The result was a report to the effect that a $400 first payment check on an eastern bank had proven to be a forgery and Scott's arrest on a felony warrant followed today.

He is being held in the City Jail to await the arrival of Santa Maria officers who are coming after him. Scott was arrested at rooms in a Euclid avenue hotel, which he and his wife were occupying. He gives his age as 26.

Turn-Down of Plan for Tri-City Disposal Plant
Starts Row

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
POMONA, Nov. 7.—The local Kiwanis Club took issue with the City Council today in opposition to the proposed joint sewage disposal system that would embrace the cities of Laverne, Claremont and Pomona. The disposal plant for the three cities to be located south of Pomona, in a closed section yesterday the Council thrashed out the matter and in public session voted to turn down the proposition.

The stand taken by the Kiwanis Club today is expected to stir up a hot battle, as Mayor Livingston expressed himself a few days ago, when interest of several civic clubs became pronounced, by saying that the whole matter was "much ado about nothing." The club demands an open hearing on the matter, believing that a majority of the citizens of the community favor the project and are not willing to let the destinies of the city be settled by the five Councilmen.

Walter Wilson, William Debnah and Al Hickson are on the Kiwanis committee, who will have charge of the sewage question for the club.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
ONTARIO, Nov. 7.—J. E. Scott was arrested today when he attempted to collect more than $1000 from the Automobile Club of Southern California, with whom he had insured an auto asserted to have been obtained at Santa Maria.

The car was badly wrecked Saturday morning when Scott missed a turn on East street near the Italian vineyard company's plant and went into the ditch. The driver and his wife who accompanied him were confined to the San Antonio hospital for several days as the result of injuries sustained.

When Scott was able to leave the hospital he was applied at the Ontario Branch of the Auto Club to collect his insurance, E. J. Dirck, local manager, became suspicious and delayed paying over the insurance money until he could confer with the Santa Maria people from whom the car was purchased.

The result was a report to the effect that a $400 first payment check on an eastern bank had proven to be a forgery and Scott's arrest on a felony warrant followed today.

He is being held in the City Jail to await the arrival of Santa Maria officers who are coming after him. Scott was arrested at rooms in a Euclid avenue hotel, which he and his wife were occupying. He gives his age as 26.

LAUDS LEAGUE AS WAR ENEMY

Dr. Henry Drummond Says
World Needs Education

City Club Here Appeal for Co-operation

Chaos Overseas Radiates
Here, Speaker Avers

The League of Nations is "the most hopeful experiment in international co-operation possible at the present time," Dr. Henry Drummond, secretary of the International Congress of Free Christians, told the City Club yesterday. He said the world will make little progress in the direction of peace until nations and individuals rid themselves of their war mentality and begin to think in terms of co-operation.

Introduced by Marshall Stimson, vice-president of the City Club, Mr. Drummond began his address by stating that in spite of the distance that separates America from Europe, the world has become so small and international relationships so great and vital that it is impossible for Europe or Asia to suffer without the intellectual, social and financial life of America being adversely affected.

"Europe is not wrecked, but every nation on the Continent still suffers as a result of the physical and economic drain upon them, and the moral disintegration caused by the awful conflict," said the speaker. "It is true Europe now has thirty-five self-governing states instead of twenty-five, as in prewar days, yet, in liberating these nations from old bonds, too little consideration was given to the work of maintaining them in their economic and social relationships."

OLD ABUSES GONE
"Old abuses have been largely eliminated and new ones introduced. There self-governing units are in bitter opposition to one another and are cutting one another's throats through tariff walls. Hungary, for example, came out of the struggle with but one-third of her territory and now, handicapped, she struggles along with no possibility of economic independence."

"Bitter racialism, encouraged to some extent by the phrase 'self-determination,' is one of the products of the war. Suspicion, distrust are in evidence on every hand. Europe today suffers not so much from economic disorder as from a want of moral confidence and moral vision."

WAR LUST REIGNS
"The world has not completely rid itself of its war mentality," continued the speaker. "In England many men still speak of the Germans as 'enemies.' That is not true. I was in the war myself and two of my sons were officers in the British Army, and I assure you I have no regrets on that score, but now that the war is over I have no more use for war mentally nor for any speech or literature that tends to feed the war of Mars."

Germany is not entirely populated by Kaisers and Junkers," continued Dr. Drummond. "The sooner we rid ourselves of that false idea the sooner we will stop playing into the hands of the reactionary enemies of the new Germany. The German people are striving for a new and better government and it is to our interest as well as theirs, to offer them every encouragement."

EDUCATION URGED
"The sooner we stop discussing the origin of the war and begin to train our minds and educate our youth to thoughts of peace the better it will be for all of us," Dr. Drummond declared. The League of Nations has justified its existence by the practical work accomplished by the various commissions on the issues of white slavery, labor questions and the drug traffic, as well as in political matters.

"Politics is the science of getting on together," said the speaker. "If the League of Nations, through its membership of men from many nations, can deal successfully with any international issue there is no reason why it should not, in time, become the great instrument of adjustment for all the great problems of all peoples."

It is expected that at least 10,000 alumni from the north will gather here for the football game between their alma mater and the University of Southern California. Many of these are expected to be present at the banquet. The University of California Glee Club and the university orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion. Reservation can be made by calling at 224 Van Nuys Building.

Because of the large number of petitions being received from property owners asking that ornamental lighting systems be installed on streets, City Electrician Manahan requested authority from the City Council to employ several additional employees to work on these improvements. The City Electrician has forty-one petitions for ornamental lighting systems in various parts of the city. These are to be paid for by assessments upon the property owners.

REFUSES EVER TO RETURN TO STAGE

Film Actress Expects to Produce Own Pictures

FOR many years a dancer on the stage, Madge Bellamy, motion-picture actress, has received and rejected an offer from a well-known New York stage producer to appear as both star and featured dance artist in a musical show which is now being produced in the East.

Madge Bellamy

Prior to her advent into the world of Klieg lights, Miss Bellamy was considered one of the most popular classic dancers on the east coast, but as a result of fracturing a bone in her left ankle, a change of vocation was necessitated. She declares she will never appear on the spoken stage and that following the termination of her present contract with Thomas H. Ince she will commence producing pictures independently.

COUPLE MAKE UP IN COURT

Husband and Wife, in Bitter Fight Over Child, Follow Judge's Instruction; Leave Arm in Arm

They came into court very, very angry, and went out arm in arm. It was Janice Markham and Dean Markham, who had engaged in a hotly contested court struggle about a week ago over the custody of their baby girl, Petite Markham. The hearing had been continued until yesterday.

At the previous hearing, Judge Summerfield retorted: "You two ought to get together. Why should you let a little difference come between you. You ought to provide a home for that child. You don't want that baby girl in some one else's home. You want her yourselves."

NOTHING DOING
But at that time there was nothing doing. Positively not. Yesterday, when the two appeared in court, the judge gave out some orders. "I want you two to go over in that room yonder, and talk things over," he commanded. "Go on in there, go on, now, no ifs or buts about it."

OIL CHARGES BEING DRAWN

Federal Men Busily Engaged on Indictments to be Presented to Grand Jury

Special counsel, Nichols & Norcop, representing Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, in the local oil-promotion investigation, are busily engaged writing indictments of using the mails in a scheme to defraud for presentation to the Federal grand jury upon the return from the East of David V. Cahill, special assistant to the Attorney-General, on the 20th inst.

It is understood the indictments will be considered by the grand jury at the meeting on the 23rd inst. It is also known that they all involve local alleged violators of the law. They cover the Santa Fe Springs, Huntington Beach and Signal Hill fields.

S. H. McCre, the postoffice inspector, who has in charge the investigation of the operations of some of the more prominent oil promoters in this city, was called to Fort Worth, Tex., yesterday on business in connection with the prosecution of certain defendants against whom indictments have already been returned. Much of the land supposed to be "proven oil territory," units of which were disposed of to investors in this city and vicinity, is located in Texas, and the investigation of the worthlessness of the land as an oil proposition is being collected by Inspector McCre.

Meanwhile the rooms occupied by Messrs. Nichols and Norcop at the Federal building, are daily crowded with victims who invested their spare money and all they could borrow in the glittering dreams of the oil schemes. Some most distressing circumstances have been revealed.

It is the intention of U. S. Atty. Burke to push the cases where indictments have been returned to an early hearing. It is the program now to set the trial dates for the first Monday in December.

A group of prominent Democrats met Daniel C. Roper of Washington, recognized head of the movement to make William G. Pearson, the party candidate for United States Senator at the last election, at his home, 624 South New Hampshire avenue, last evening.

He expressed it as his belief that the California delegation to the Democratic national convention, in presenting the name of William G. McAdoo, will name the next nominee of the party and the next President of the United States.

Booking Agency Files Suit Seeking to Prevent Arrest

Chief of Police Vollmer and City Prosecutor Friedlander have been made defendants in an injunction suit filed by Howard Patrick and Norma Marsh of the firm of Patrick and Marsh, a booking agency for orchestras, in which the plaintiffs seek to restrain the defendants from arresting Patrick and Marsh.

Milton H. Silverberg, attorney for the plaintiffs, declared his clients were threatened with arrest for furnishing music to their customers, unless they signed affidavits to the effect that they were running an employment agency. It is the contention of the defense, according to the attorney, that Patrick and Marsh are not engaged in finding positions for individual players and are therefore not to be classed as an employment bureau and if they sign the affidavits they will be guilty of violating the State law governing employment agencies.

CHILDREN'S CUSTODY IS GIVEN TO WIFE

Guy Humphrey of Glendale yesterday was brought into Judge Clock's court from the County Jail to face his wife, Jessa Humphrey, in a dispute over agency of the custody of three minor children. Humphrey had been placed in jail in default of furnishing bonds in the Glendale Justice Court to keep the peace. Mrs. Humphrey charged cruelty in her complaint, charging that her husband beat her and on one occasion locked her out of the house. Humphrey argued in court that his wife was not a proper person to have the care of the children, and she worked during the day and neglected them. Judge Clock, however, allowed the children to remain with the mother and ordered Humphrey to pay $20 a week alimony and stay away from their Glendale home.

The trial of Grace Wall, alias Virginia Lavallee, began yesterday before Judge Hardy of Superior Court for the asserted murder of Henry W. Johnson, August 15. Selection of the jury will continue today. Dep. Dist. Atty. Moroney is prosecuting. She is asserted to have stabbed Johnson to death with a butcher knife in a quarrel that followed a drinking bout.

Witness Stand

After she had learned he was already a married man, Burt W. Windate told her daughter not to worry, that he would take her to Mexico and marry her anyway. Mrs. Lottie Woodyard, mother of Violet Woodyard, testified yesterday in Judge Bunnell's court where Violet's suit against Windate for $50,000 damages for an asserted breach of promise is on trial.

The plaintiff alleges in her suit that Windate proposed marriage to her after a fervid courtship which had its beginning on the sands of Long Beach early in 1922. On November 2, 1922, approximately four months after they became engaged, the defendant told her he already had a wife, according to her complaint.

The elder Mrs. Windate testified yesterday that Windate came to her on June 21, 1922, and asked for her daughter's hand. She said she replied that her consent lay with her daughter and that the latter signed a willingness to marry Windate. "Did he hug and kiss your daughter?" asked W. H. Dehm, counsel for Windate. "Yes, certainly," responded Mrs. Woodyard.

Mr. Dehm then asked the witness if she had questioned the defendant in regard to his financial standing. "Yes," she answered. "I asked him if he could support my daughter. I had to support her when she was married before."

It was brought out that the plaintiff had been married to a soldier during the World War but that she divorced him ten months after he was discharged from the army. At that time she was given permission to resume her maiden name.

Attorney R. T. Walters of the law firm of Walters and Mauk has been handling the case for the plaintiff.

Lenhart Held on Attempted
Bribe Charge Say "Bayer" and Insist!

George Lenhart was held to answer in $3000 bail yesterday by Justice Ballard. He is charged with attempted bribery of Olive Fern Elliott, complaining witness against Charles Westcott and John Zuniga on a statutory charge. It was declared Lenhart had offered the girl $600 if she would change her testimony to throw the blame on Zuniga, who has not been arrested, and exonerate Westcott, who is under arrest.

SAWTELLE MAN FACES MANN ACT CHARGE

Dwight T. Broadhurst, a clerk employed in the Pacific Electric office at Sawtelle, was arrested yesterday on the charge of violating the Mann Act. He is under indictment at Folsom, Idaho. Police alleged that in January, 1922, he transported Bernice Wilburn from Salt Lake City to Montpelier, Bear Lake county, Idaho, for an immoral purpose. Broadhurst says he was arrested in Salt Lake on the charge, but the grand jury failed to indict him, and he was released after he had been in jail five days. He later took the girl to Idaho, it is declared, and it is upon this asserted trip that the foundation of the indictment is laid. He is held under a bond of $1000 by U. S. Commissioner Long pending his removal to the jurisdiction of the Idaho courts.

DESTROYER YEOMAN ACCUSED OF FORGERY

H. J. O'Neil, chief yeoman of the United States destroyer Somers, that went on rocks at Honda, recently but was pulled off safely, is under arrest on the charge of forging the signature of Paymaster E. R. Brown, to paymasters' accounts aggregating more than $1000. He was taken into custody by W. W. Ash, acting assistant agent of the United States Treasury Department. A number of the checks that had been disposed of were found in the possession of O'Neil at the time of his arrest, according to the statement of Federal officers.

FRIENDS NOTICED IMPROVEMENT

Wonderful Results from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bethel, Wis.—My female trouble was brought on by overwork. I had worked in stores and had to do heavier work than my strength could stand, and had to be on my feet most of the time. Finally I had to give up this work entirely and stay at home. Doctor's medicine did not give me much relief, and my mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took a couple of bottles of it and thought it did not help me as much as it should, so I gave it up to try something else. Nothing I took helped me much, so I finally decided to give the Vegetable Compound another trial and to take enough of it to make sure it would help me. I have taken it over a year now and it has brought wonderful results. I have gained from 85 to 110 pounds and am keeping house now. My friends all notice the change in my health. I will be glad to answer all letters that women write to me about the Vegetable Compound. —Mrs. W. G. Mossos, 1218 Park Ave., East Wis.

Mrs. Monson is willing to write to any woman suffering from such troubles.
